Stainless steel intake and outlet pipe (lily pipe) for the aquarium, stylish, robust and unbreakable and therefore much more convenient to use than glass lily pipes. The wide sieve at the bottom of the inlet pipe allows water to be drawn in over a large surface area and discharged to the external filter. The outlet pipe ensures good distribution and circulation of the return water to the aquarium. Supplied complete with mounting clips.

This stainless steel set is easy to clean, unlike glassware pipes which are continuously dirty due to fouling in the pipe. In addition, stainless steel is unbreakable.

Scapers filter inlet and outlet pipes, made of shiny stainless steel for a luxurious look and finish

Cattapa Tubes.

Superfish Catappa bark tubes lower pH, enhance the colours of fish and shrimps, and work preventively against diseases in the aquarium. These tubes are also a natural hiding place and will give the aquarium a natural look

In the aquarium, the catappa tubes slowly break down and release tannins that turn the water brown, dampening the light and imitating the natural habitat of many fish and reducing stress.

Use: 1 tube 50-100l of water. The active ingredients are completely released after about 4 months.

Contents 3 Catappa tubes approximately 15–20 cm long.
